

FRIENDS OF HOLY TRINITY BLYTHBURGH

29 October 2017

Dear Friends

Guess who came to Blythburgh church in August this year? Penelope Keith spent a day filming in and around the church and village for an episode of her popular Channel 4 TV show, Penelope Keith's Hidden Villages. We're not sure when it will be broadcast, but do watch out for it.

In fact we are becoming quite a magnet for television people. In July Travel Channel of America brought presenter Max Hug Williams (yes, that's his name), to explore evidence of the infamous Black Shuck legend. We obliged of course, showing him the 'claw marks' on the North door. I'm not sure you will be able to access his programme.

Space for the village

Holy Trinity continues to be a popular space for all kinds of church and village activities. This year the Horticultural Society filled the nave and aisles with prize-winning produce, flowers and baked goodies. And not to be outdone, the church was beautifully decorated with floral displays fruit and vegetables for the Harvest Festival service and lunch.

The ever-popular Animal Service followed, the congregation swelled by the addition of four horses and a pony – and two chickens!

With the help of the Friends

As Dr Alan Mackley's latest book The Restoration of Blythburgh Church, 1881-1906 set out in detail, Blythburgh church had a special relationship with textile designer and social activist William Morris. As a result, the church has inherited a length of fabric made in his workshop. This year, the PCC decided to put this to good use as a curtain for the north priest's door. Congregation member Ruth Holt, herself a fine art weaver, has made a wonderful job of it's making and the Friends were happy to foot the bill for materials. The Hopton Chapel is now relatively draft-free!

And so to Christmas

Back by popular demand is the Blythburgh Christmas market, on Saturday 25 November from 12.00am till 4.00pm in the church. There will be 31 stalls selling all kinds of Christmas decorations and gifts. Mulled wine and mince pies will be there to tempt you as you enter and a choice of soups and sausage rolls, tea and cake will be served throughout the day.

This year we are furthering our welcome to our local community by staging a new Christmas nativity musical in the church. Entitled A Lion for a King, it is based on an ancient legend in which the three wise men who followed the star to the stable in Bethlehem, journeyed along the silk route from China. We have a cast of some 15 to 20 youngsters from across the benefice keen to join in and the performance will take place on Saturday 16 December at 4.00pm.
